Overview

In 2012, the Chicago Department of Public Health (CDPH) implemented a mental health reform plan to improve the quality of mental health services provided by the City. The reform plan focuses on serving the uninsured and strengthening the city-wide mental health system to better address the needs of all who depend on mental health services. The plan called for the consolidation of the City’s mental health centers (from 12 to 6), preserved capacity to serve 4,000 clients a year, and expanded the mental health network by working with more than 60 community mental health providers to serve approximately 400 of CDPH’s existing insured clients.

Transition Process

Beginning in November of 2011, CDPH began implementing a transition plan to ensure every individual receiving care from CDPH continued to have access to care without interruption of care. Every CDPH client transferring to a new facility, service provider, or therapist, developed an individual transition plan in consultation with their therapist. The following steps were taken by each CDPH therapist:

- Therapists meet with each of their clients to discuss their treatment plan, where they will continue to receive services and services they will be provided.
- Therapists scheduled the 1st appointment for their client at the new service location and transferred all case files.
- To assist with travel expenses during the transition, therapists provided each client changing facilities with 4 CTA 1-day bus/train passes.

Monitoring Client Transition

To further support the transition and to ensure continuity of care, CDPH dedicated additional personnel to form a Quality Team to monitor clients for at least 60 days after transition. The team is made up of four clinical staff and one consumer advocate staff. The team

- monitors all clients changing facilities to ensure they arrive to their first appointment and meet with their therapist at the new location;
- monitors the transition process to ensure patients continue their care;
- ensures clients changing locations receive transportation assistance during the transition;
- contacts clients not meeting their first appointments and helps them reconnect to a mental health service provider.

FACT: CDPH’s reforms focus on serving its most vulnerable population, the uninsured

- All uninsured clients will continue to have access to care at a CDPH site
- CDPH will continue to have capacity to serve 1,000 Medicaid clients a year
